This day was later renamed Veterans Day to pay tribute to all American veterans, both living and dead. Memorial Day, on the other hand, is a day to remember and honor those who have died while serving in the U.S. military.

The name Memorial Day came about in 1882 but was not widely accepted until after World War II. The name became official in 1967 and in 1968 the U.S. Congress decided the day should be part of a three-day weekend. The last change came in 1971 when the holiday became a federal holiday.
